Thursday, August 12. 1714.

To the Queen's most Excellent Majesty.
The humble Address of the High-Sheriff, Grand-Jury, Justices of the Peace, Gentlemen and Freeholders of the County of Cork, at the General Assizes and General Goal-Delivery held for the said County, at the King's Old Castle near Cork, the 22d Day of July, 1714.

May it please your Majesty, WE your Majesty's most Dutiful and Loyal Subjects, cannot but with Pleasure embrace every Opportunity of approaching your Royal Person, and returning our unfeigned Thanks for the many Blessings we enjoy under your most Gracious Reign. As your Majesty has upon every Occasion shewn a sincere and tender Regard to the Welfare and Security of the Protestant Interest of this Kingdom, so have you given us a fresh Demonstration of both, by your gracious Compliance with the seasonable Address of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal of Great-Britain, in issuing your Royal Proclamation, promising a Reward to any Person who shall Apprehend the Pretender and bring him to Justice, in Case he shall attempt to invade any Part of your Majesty's Dominions, for which we beg Leave to return your Majesty our most hearty Thanks.

This, as it has revived the Spirits and animated the Zeal of your Majesty's Protestant Subjects, so we are perswaded it will convince the Papists and all other the Friends of the Pretender, that their Hopes of seeing once more a Popish Prince on the British Throne (which with the utmost Assurance they have of late publicly avowed) are not so well grounded as they fondly imagined.

'Tis with great Reluctance that we, who enjoy the Happiness of living under the Protection of the most gracious and best of Princes, are brought to entertain any Fears or Jealousies, or to lay them before your Majesty; but since the Numbers of Papists in this Kingdom are so very great, as to make them truly formidable to that handful of Protestants who live scattered among 'em; since 'tis now no longer a bare Suspicion or Conjecture, that great Numbers of your Majesty's Subjects have been enlisted into the Service of the Pretender, and transported, with a Design to invade your Majesty's Dominions; and since 'tis more than probable that he is supported by some greater Power than his under whose Protection he now lives, (your Majesty's Instances to the Duke of Lorraine to remove him from his Dominions having hitherto proved ineffectual,) we in-treat your Majesty to believe, that our present humble Address proceeds from no other Motive than a Sincere and Dutiful Regard for the Safety of your Majesty's Person and Government, the Succession in the most Illustrious House of Hanover, the Preservation of the Church as by Law Established, and the Lives and Liberties of our fellow Subjects.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug. 11.

Naples, July 10. The 4th of this Month General Wetzel arrived here from Rome, and alighted at the Castel-nuovo, of which he is continued Governour with the usual Appointments, till he be provided with some other Employment as valuable. The same Day a Privateer arrived from Barcelona, from which Port she sailed the 27th of last Month, having on board a Deputy from the City, commissioned to ask of the Viceroy speedy Supplies of Provisions and Ammunition. 'Tis said the Answer made him was, that the Funds from which the Sums necessary for relieving the Barceloners might have been drawn, were appropriated to other Uses, by express Order from the Court of Vienna, whither a Courier should be sent however on this Subject. A large Tartan is laden with Powder, Bullets, Carriages, Bombs, and Grenades, and was said to be designed to be sent to Barcelona; but we are now informed 'tis designed for the Magazines of Gaeta.

The 5th the 5 Gallies of the Squadron of this Kingdom put to Sea from hence for Reggio, whither they carry with them 500 German Foot of the Recruits lately arrived, to be incorporated into the Companies which are in Garrison there. The Pursuit of the Banditi by Arms is begun; two of the Leaders have been taken, another of them killed, and his Head sent hither and carried about the Town. The Count de Gallasch, the Emperor's Ambassador at Rome, has written to the Body of the Nobility and of this City, that nothing is yet concluded upon the Differences with the Court of Rome relating to the ancient Liberties and Privileges of the Neapolitans: But that they need not be uneasy about it, for his Imperial Majesty would take all possible Care to maintain them in their Pretensions.

London, August 12.

Yesterday arrived the Mail from France of Saturday last.

From the Paris Gazette, dated Aug. 18.

Perpignan, Aug. 3. Letters from the Camp before Barcelona of the 27th of July, advise, That on the 23d two English Men of War came into the Road of Barcelona from Port-Mahon. Their Captains came into the Town, demanded the Artillery and other Effects which were left there when the English went from thence, and complained of Damages suffered by several Merchant-Ships of their Nation from the Catalonian Privateers, who had stopped them. They were very well received, and promised all Manner of Satisfaction, after which they went away. The 25th at 5 in the Morning, the Besiegers began to cannonade and bombard the Place with 74 Cannon and 24 Mortars, which are almost without Intermision.
They batter the Bastions of the Levant, St.
Claire, and a long Courtain which is between the Bastion of St. Claire and the new Gate. Those 3 Bastions and the Courtain are already very much shattered, and the Fire of the Besieged is much diminished. The Burst of a Bomb shot out of the Place, blew up a Waggon-Load of Powder, by which 20 Men

Men were killed or wounded. The 26th a Bomb of the Besiegers did like Execution in the Place. The 27th the Cannon continued firing as fast as the small Arms, and the Mortars fired all the Night-time. The 26th the Besiegers took a Redoubt towards the Sea, in which a Battery was raised of 6 Guns of 36 pound Ball. The same Day a Body of 4 or 5000 Miquelets attacked the Camp, but were vigorously repulsed and put to Flight, with considerable Loss. The Works are advanced within 40 Toises of the salient Angles of the Covered-Way. A Battery of 10 Guns of 36 pound Ball was removed forward, in order to enlarge the Breach and make it fit to be mounted on Horseback.

Naples, July 17. The 5 Gallies of the Squadron of the Kingdom, are returned from Reggio. We learn by Letters from Reggio, that the King of Sicily continues at Messina, where are expected from England some Men of War and a Frigate which are to remain there under his Sicilian Majesty's Orders. New German Troops arrive daily, by Transports at Manfredonia, and they are incorporated into the Regiments of their Nation, some of which were much diminished. The Deputy of Barcelona has obtained two Tartans laden with Corn, which are already failed.

Rome, July 21. The 16th arrived two Couriers sent to Cardinal Aquaviva, to give him an Account of the Conclusion of the Marriage of the King of Spain with the Princess of Parma Elizabeth Farnese, only Daughter of the late Duke. He received Order at the same time to go immediately to Parma, to demand solemnly that Princess, and to celebrate the Marriage by Proxy, for which End his Catholick Majesty had sent him all the Powers necessary, with 12000 Pistoles for the Charges of the Journey, 30000 for the Nuptial Present, and 3000 for the Princess of Piombino who is to conduct the Queen in the Quality of first Lady of Honour.

From the Paris Letter, dated Aug. 18.

Paris, Aug. 18. Letters from the Camp before Barcelona of the 31st past relate, that the Night between the 26th and 27th the Works were carried on within 40 Toises of the Covered-Way; but the two following Nights the Besiegers could not advance otherwise than by the Sap, because of the Hardness of the Ground at the Front of their Attacks. The 30th at Night M. Dillon who commanded in the Trenches, caused four Companies of Grenadiers to move out on the Right and Left, and they entered the Covered-Way and drove out all whom they found in it, with no more Loss than of 50 or 60 Men killed or wounded. As the Head of our Saps was not above 7 or 8 Toises from the salient Angles of the Covered-Way, they lodged themselves on those Angles, and the Communication with those Lodgements was made at the same time. The Marshal de Villars sets out the 26th for Baden. Upon Advice that an Imbargo is laid on all Shipping in the Ports of England, a Rumour is spread that the Queen is dead or in great Danger. This is certain, that the King shewed very much Concern at the unexpected News which he received the 13th of her being very ill.

Plymouth, Aug. 8. Yesterday sailed His Majesty's Ships Pembroke, Bristol, and Dunkirk for Ireland; and Ferret for Scilly, and Jamaica to the Eastward. This Day came in the Providence, Isaac Mangles, of this Place, from the Isle of May. Mr. Mangles informs us, that on the 30th past, 100 Leagues to the Westward of Scilly, in the Latitude of 48 and a half, the Boats of the Mariborough and Loyal Prince, both from India, were on board his Ship: They were both in good Order, and wanted no Provisions.

Deale, Aug. 9. His Majesty's Ship Sapphire sailed Yesterday Afternoon to the Westward; but his Majesty's Ship Centurion was this Morning put back by contrary Winds, having lost her Fore-Mast, Boltsprit, and Main-top-Mast. His Majesty's Ship Biddiford is also put back; and this Morning came in hither His Majesty's Ships Hind and Antelope.

Deale, Aug. 10. All the King's Ships and outward-bound were Yesterday put back again; but His Majesty's Ship Valeur sailed again last Night, and Fox this Morning, to the Westward. Yesterday came down His Majesty's Ship Fowey, and this Morning the Windsor.

London, August 12.
